Forex and Investment MLM Software Development

Forex and investment MLM software is a platform that combines forex trading or investment management functionality with multi-level marketing (MLM) mechanics — referral tracking, genealogy trees, and commission distribution.

As a forex and investment MLM software development company, Hivelance handles the process end-to-end — from initial scoping to development, testing, and deployment. We start with business-first discovery to understand where you want to expand, not just what features you want, then move into technical planning that ensures smooth integration across trading tools, wallets, and MLM logic. Throughout development, we provide regular progress updates and milestone check-ins, and we deliver in structured, agile iterations rather than a single end-of-project handoff.
